

The coronavirus (COVID-19) situation is evolving rapidly. During times of uncertainty, it's important that we come together as a community and as a nation to look after each other, focus on preparation, and minimize panic. We'll all get through this together.

At G5, the interests and needs of our customers are a top priority. Here are the proactive steps G5 is taking to keep business running as usual. We're here to help you.

Business Continuity Plan: G5 has a robust and well-tested Business Continuity Plan. We have proven our ability to serve our clients with little to no interruption when facing unforeseen circumstances. G5 has already activated certain components of the plan and we are ready to take further action as needed.

Website Updates: If you would like to use your G5 websites to communicate how your business is responding to COVID-19, we have provided instructions for adding a content stripe or blog post in the G5 Customer Portal.

Communicating During a Crisis: Please read our latest blog for helpful tips on how to communicate during a crisis. Download our Checklist: Digital Marketing During a Crisis to get specific information on how to use your marketing channels to stay connected with your customers and prospects.